

2015 Texas Archeological Field School Tait-Huffmeyer Ranch, Columbus, Texas

The much-anticipated second year of the TAS Field School at the Tait-Huffmeyer Ranch in Columbus began on Saturday, June 13th. All of us were carefully watching the weather as Tropical Storm Bill gathered in the Gulf of Mexico. We were able to work on Saturday, but the rains started on Sunday and fieldwork at most of the sites was called off for the day. And the weather just got worse by the day until field school was finally called on Wednesday. However, the rains did not dampen the spirit of most of the field school attendees.

The HAS crew served dinner on Sunday night including John Mancha, Louis Aulbach, Bob Sewell and Sharon Menegaz.

HAS members Tom Nuckols and Steve Davis show a young visitor how it's done!

The entire Kevin Rambo family – all HAS members – pitched in to serve dinner, too.

The scene during one of the drier days at San Felipe de Austin State Historic Site, one of the areas excavated during field school by THC stewards and HAS members.

HAS member Sandy Rogers trying to keep her paperwork dry!

HAS awarded two Field School scholarships this year to these two deserving Lone Star College archeology students – Dustin Scoggin left and Kelly McCraw, right.

Linda Gorski