

TxDOT/HAS Dimond Knoll Screening Project – May 24, 2013
Bulletin #10

Despite the 90 degree heat, our screening crew was hard at work this past weekend.

Laurie Nash works with two friends she brought to the screening site including our youngest ever volunteer.

Just a few of the artifacts recovered May 24 and 25.

The book "Stone Artifacts of Texas Indians" is an invaluable resource for identifying points we are recovering.

John Rich finding a point!

It was a hot day but Bob Sewell found a way to cool off! We're moving our screening hours from 9 – 2 to 8 – 1 to avoid working during the hottest part of the day.
